

WRITING TIME

21.

Work in groups. Read the explanation and write an online-digital collaborative story.

A group of people creates a story in collaborative storytelling.

What you do:

- If you write it online, one writer starts the story and others keep on adding sentences to it. In the end, you have an interesting story.
- If you write your story in class, one of you will write two sentences on a piece of paper. He/She will fold the paper on the first sentence and pass the paper to the next person. So, the next writer can only see the second sentence. Then, he/she adds his/her story sentences according to that sentence. Folding the paper again, he/she passes the paper to another person. It goes on like this.

e.g.

Student 1

It was just the time to use his cell phone. But the phone was dead and his charger was at home.

Student 2

He looked for a telephone booth. There was no telephone booth and no one around.

Student 3

He was always afraid of lonely and dark places. He wanted to shout, but he couldn't.

Student 4

Just at that moment, he heard a sound far away. Perhaps it was an animal.
